Card Types and Mechanics

Understanding the different types of cards is crucial for success in the Pokémon TCG. There are three main types of cards: Pokémon cards, Trainer cards, and Energy cards. Each type serves a unique function in battles:

- Trainer Cards: These cards provide various effects, such as healing Pokémon or allowing players to draw additional cards. They are essential for strategic play.

- Energy Cards: Necessary for powering Pokémon attacks, energy cards must be attached to Pokémon to use their abilities effectively.

Gameplay Mechanics

Players engage in battles by drawing cards and playing them strategically. Each turn, a player can draw a card, attach an energy card, evolve a Pokémon, and use Trainer cards. It is important to manage resources and anticipate the opponent's moves. Understanding the synergy between different cards in a deck can also significantly influence the outcome of battles.
